A WASHINGTON correspondent of the St. Paul Globe writes: The following little incident in the Congressional history of Secretary Lamar is thus interestingly told by Col. J. H. Elliott: "Sam Randall deserves infinite credit for the successful parliamentary fight he made on the force bill, but without Lamar's assistance the battle would have been lost. He said to Lamar, who fought with equal courage and ability in the crisis of the controversy, that he could kill time no longer by an appeal to the rules. Both for three days and nights had gone without sleep or rest. Lamar staggered under the remark of Randall, and in a spirit of desperation, during a brief recess of the House, he wandered through the corridors aimlessly. Quite to his surprise, he found himself in the presence of Mr. Blaine, who rallied him on his dejected, haggard look, and inquired the cause. He remarked that the game was ended—the South must go under. Blaine, who at heart was opposed to the act, asked him why he did not call for the reading of the three days' proceedings, which right could not be denied to a member. With a cry of relief, Lamar as quick as thought hastened back to Randall and communicated his plan. The call for reading was then made, but since it would have consumed over a half day's time, and thereby closed the session, the adversary, perceiving the advantage thus gained, surrendered the contest. The fight was abandoned and the battle won."

Ed Crome, of 'Force street, is suffering from the effects of a dog bite and fears of hydrophobia are entertained.

IT'S A GO.

The county commissioners returned from Greensburg, Indiana last night.

They have assurances now that they can get stone and iron for the proposed new bridge over the St. Mary's river on Spy Run avenue.

This morning the commissioners took measurements for the structure and will advertise for bids at once.

It can be officially stated at this hour, 3:30 p. m., that the new bridge will be built this fall.

GHASTLY.

A Dead Body Discovered in a Baker Street Stable.

In a stable, in the rear of house, No. 65 Baker street, some painters at work on the premises, made a ghastly discovery.

In a box, in the corner of the barn, was the dead body of an unknown man. The flesh was black, indicating that it was stored there some weeks.

From a cross beam, near by, hung an arm of the dead person. Conductor Tom Callins claims the body as his property, and the officers are investigating.

The Lake Manawa Disaster.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 5.—Late advices from Lake Manawa state that there were fully thirty excursionists on the steamer which capisized last week. Five men are known to have been drowned and it is thought that two or three others shared a similar fate as they are still missing. The bodies of Joseph Newman, George Cartright and C. H. Person, besides those of two unknown men, have been recovered.

Came to Blows.

TOLEDO, Aug. 5.—A. D. Pelton, manager of the Toledo Commercial, and James W. Brown, a leading lawyer and politician of that city, came to blows yesterday in the Commercial office over a dispute involving the business affairs of the paper. It is rumored that the Commercial will soon blossom out as a democrat organ under the manrgement of Allen O. Myers, now of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Supposed Murderer Captured.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 5.—Four weeks ago Duke Campbell was brutally murdered at Scottsboro, Ala., because he was about to squeal on the parties who had robbed the county clerk's office of $1,500. Last night a man by the name of Robinson was arrested by Detective Elliott in this city, charged with committing the murder. He was taken to Scottsboro this morning.

JOHN HENRY.

Tumbles From a Dizzy Height in St. Mary's Church and is Fatally Injured.

John Henry, of Avilla, was employed at carpenter work on the new St. Mary's Catholic church.

This afternoon he engaged himself in one of the steeples at a great height—say seventy-five or 100 feet. His movements were not noticed until his body was whirled down the shaft-like opening to sink itself in the pile of bricks below, a horrid, bleeding mass.

In his flight to death, Henry carried timbers, stones and bricks with him, and they fell crashing on his almost lifeless form.

His fellow workmen, directed by Rev. Father Oechtering, carried the sufferer to the city hospital. There Dr. McCausland pronounced his skull fractured, one of his shoulders crushed to a jelly, and internal injuries of such a nature as to preclude the possibility of his recovery.

Mr. Henry has a family at Avilla, and came here to take advantage of the busy season in his trade.

THE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

Dr. Fritsche Reports Some of the Public Institutions in a Bad Way.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 5.—The state board of health met yesterday. Dr. Fritsche made reports on the number of buildings he has visited. He finds that jails in Lawrence and Perry counties are unfit for human habitation. He recommended the condemnation of both. He also found the poor house of Lawrence county in a horrible condition and the overseer pocketing the proceeds of the labor of all the inmates. He could hire out to farmers at ridiculously low wages—$1.75 per week.

Young children were forced to sleep with old inmates, who are afflicted with all sorts of loathesome diseases. The poor house of Spencer county is in a poor condition, also Perry county is powerless to do anything to aid the poor and criminal captives, as both county treasurer and prosecuting attorney have been away, the former took all the funds and the county is about bankrupt.

UP THE FEEDER.

The City Officials Take a Look at the Headwaters of the St. Joe.

This morning a party of city officials, and others who desired to go, accompanied Hon. Wm. Fleming and Mr. J. H. Bass for an inspection of the feeder canal and the dam that controls the headwarters of the St. Joe river.

The drive up along the feeder was a pleasant one and from the gentlemen interviewed by THE SENTINEL representative it is learned that the property is in excellent shape. The river water was sampled by the visitors and a careful survey of the premises was had.

Among the excursionists were Hon. Wm. Fleming, Mr. J. H. Bass, Mayor Muhler, Treasurer Berghoff, City Assessor Reese, Civil Engineer Goshorn, Street Commissioner O'Brien, Marshal Meyer, Councilmen Buttenbender, Doehrman, Griffith, Kensill, Kelker, Meyer, Michael, Hazzard, Read, Scheid, Lahmeyer; Shordan, Woulfe, Williams, and Captain A. H. Dougall, Anselm Fuelber, and Mr. Mills, of the firm of Stout, Mills and Temple, water wheel manufacturers, of Dayton, Ohio.

The tourists were agreeably surprised at the solidity of the feeder canal and dam, as well as at the purity and extent of the water in the St. Joe river. It is like a lake up there and the river is navigable for big steamers some eighteen miles northward.

The question of a water supply now resolves itself for solution.

If the city sinks experimental wells, at a cost of $10,000, or goes to the St. Joe river, near the brewery, at a cost of $40,000 or $50,000, for a water supply, it must purchase a $27,000 or $37,000 pumping engine, because the one now in use is not sufficient and the old engine is condemned.

The feeder canal gives the city a water supply from the headwaters of the St. Joe river and power for pumping besides, making the purchase of a $27,000 or $37,000 engine unnecessary.

Tax payers will have no trouble solving this problem.

The Fire Record.

DUNKIRK, N. Y., Aug. 5.—The St. James and Eastern hotels were destroyed by fire at midnight last night. No casualties are reported.

The total loss on the hotels will probably reach $75,000. The insurance on the Eastern hotel is small. The St. James hotel has no insurance. The fire is thought to be the work of an incendiary.

JOLIET, Ill., Aug. 5.—The prairie fire broke out afresh in another place and burned over one thousand acres and one house was destroyed. The fire went faster than a man could run. The fire finally subdued near Matterson. In the woods the fire is still burning. It burns the largest trees down and burns them out by the roots.

A LUCKY HAUL.

A Noted Burglar Captured by the Jersey City Detectives With a Complete Outfit of Burglars Tools.

JERSEY CITY, Aug. 5.—Detectives yesterday arrested George Forth, a noted burglar, who is wanted for the burglary of Fairchild & Co's. jewelry store in Bridgeport, Connecticut, July 17. The safe was broken open and $15,000 worth of diamonds and jewelry stolen. He returned recently from a professional trip to Europe, which is said to have been very successful.

In his lodgings a startling array of burglars tools were found, including jimmies, wedges, lock-picks, saws, sledges, braces, bits of all kinds, over 500 keys of various shapes, wax impressions of keys, and books containing cipher entries. Ten pounds of dynamite cartridges were found buried in the yard. The detectives say it is the most complete burglars outfit they ever saw.

He Fell Fifty Feet.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 5.—At 3 o'clock yesterday morning Thomas Cameron was sitting in the window of his room on the fourth floor of the hotel which opens on a court in the Evening Wisconsin building. He tumbled backward and fell headlong down, dropping a distance of over fifty feet. Near the bottom he struck a sky light of half inch glass, smashing it, and also breaking an inch cast-iron frame and several gas pipes and rods that crossed the room. Cameron landed on an elevated platform which was filled with paper in the stock room of the Wisconsin establishment. Blood flew in every direction, and when his companions reached him he was apparently dead, and cannot live long. He had been drinking considerably during the day.

The Texas Election.

GALVESTON, Aug. 5.—All interest centered in the prohibition amendment in the election held yesterday. The fight for and against its ratification was conducted with great vigor. Never in the history of Texas has such a canvass been waged. It was no party issue. The ablest men of both parties were arrayed against each other in the contest. Able men from abroad took part. The papers of the state discussed daily for and against until the people from one end of the great state to the other were thoroughly aroused. The prohibitionists admit their defeat in the state by 15,000 majority. The anti-prohibitionists claim 50,000 majority. Sixty-one towns give 4,017 majority against prohibition.

A Fatal Fall.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—A nine year old boy was this morning seen to crawl out a rear fourth story window of tenement house No. 21, Spring street, to reach the fire escape and attempt to descend. He had not got half way down when, either from weakness or dizziness at the great heighth, he lost his hold and fell to the pavement. He will probably die. It was learned that the parents of the boy always locked him up when they went to work and left him without food. Hunger impelled him to try to make his way to the street.

The Kentucky Election.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 5.—No additional returns have been received this morning from the election. The democrats estimate Buckner's majority at safely over 20,000, and though the republicans claim it will be under that, their claims cannot be borne out by the returns. All the larger counties are in, and only a few mountain counties are to be heard from, and giving these all to Bradley by an increased republican vote, he will not come within ten thousand of Buckner's vote.

Boring a Square Hole.

An Iowa genius devoted fourteen of the best years of his life to solve the problem of boring a square hole, and finally succeeded. His patents were disposed of to J. E. Curtice, of Fort Wayne, Ind. A company was organized at Wooster, O., and the last two years have been devoted to perfecting the machine, which was at first cumbersome and somewhat complicated. It is now simple and admirably adapted to the purpose for which it is intended. The machine is on exhibition in the basement of 90 Griswold street, and attracts a great deal of attention. Carpenters, builders, contractors and capitalists are all in to see it work, and all pronounce it an invention that will meet with universal demand. It is simply an oscillating head with chisel edges and projecting lips which cut out the corners in advance of the chisel. The balance of the machine is almost an exact counterpart of the old style boring machine. It will cut a two by four mortise in from four to five minutes, and boring it with perfect accuracy, that a carpenter can not possibly complete in less than half an hour.—Detroit News.

THREE OF 'EM.

Young Men Who Worked Themselves Into the Clutches of the Law.

Deputy Sheriff Wilkinson went to Huntertown this morning to arrest Zena Herring, who is charged with stealing bed clothes and such from his mother-in-law, Mrs. Hudson. Herring pawned the stuff and will get himself into trouble.

Ben Roy, a young man, was arrested last night for passing a counterfeit dollar on Houser, the Barr street saloon man. He is a brother-in-law of Albert Gessler, the Main street butcher, and his mother lives at New Haven. Roy is having an examination before Federal Commissioner Harper this afternoon.

John Whalen purchased some furniture from J. H. Ray, a Clinton street dealer, on a contract that the title should not pass until the purchase price was fully paid. Whalen, it is said, sold the furniture for fifty dollars to Erastus Shuman. Ray replevied the goods and Shuman had Whalen arrested. Justice Harding bound Whalen over for trial this morning. He has been drinking hard of late, and recently lost a good situation in the electric light works.

Rev. Father O'Reilly Dead.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger has received the sad news of the death of Rev. M. O'Reilly at his home in Valparaiso last evening at 9 o'clock. His death occurred from the effects of paralysis, at the age of fifty-four years. He would have celebrated his 25th year in the priesthood next December had he lived. Father O'Reilly came to this country from Ireland when a young man and for some years was a teacher in the public schools of Ohio. He acquired his classical education at Oberlin and studied theology at Mt. St. Mary's Seminary, Cincinnati. He was ordained to the priesthood by Rt. Rev. Bishop Luers in the Cathedral of this city. He was at once appointed to Valparaiso and has been there ever since.

He was one of the two theologians that accompanied Bishop Dwenger to the Fourth Provincial Council of Cincinnati. He was a member of the diocesan school board, and for some years performed the arduous duties of secretary of that body. He was also a member of Bishop Dwenger's council.

The funeral will occur next Saturday morning interment will be in that beautiful cemetery purchased by himself. Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger and clergy of this city will leave for Valparasio on No. 9 this evening.

The Second Church Excursion.

The 7 o'clock train on the Pittsburg road yesterday morning took with it two coaches comfortably filled with excursionists bound for Eagle lake, Beyer Brothers' resort, Warsaw, under the auspices of the Ladies' Sewing society of the Second Presbyterian church. A SENTINEL representative, who accompanied the excursion, was placed under obligations to Mr. Miller, the gentlemanly landscape gardner, for some choice flowers out of his green house.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 5, 1887.

COLONEL ROBERTSON is not worrying about the enmity of the railroad corporations. Such things make men popular.

THE city wants to own all the water in the St. Joe river, where it is plentiful and wholesome. This is the great point to consider, and just where the value of the feeder canal comes in.

The convention to be held in Chicago next month in the interest of the movement promises to be a very important affair.

THE resolutions recently adopted by the National Veterans' association of Des Moines, Ia., repudiating the utterances of certain members of the G. A. R., in connection with a proposed visit of President Cleveland to St. Louis while the Grand Army encampment was in progress there, commending the president's veto of the dependent pension bill, condemning the efforts of "those who seek by the rebel flag episode to rekindle the flames of sectional hate and contention" as unmanly, unpatriotic and meriting the contempt of intelligent men, were presented to the president by General Rosecrans.

THE FEEDER CANAL.

A writer in the Gazette contends that Mr. J. H. Bass and others, who own the Rudisill mill, and Hon. Wm. Fleming, who owns the paper mill, have no right to the water in the St. Joe river that the water works trustees need respect. Unfortunately for the trustees these socialistic opinions do not prevail in courts of justice, or any place else where property rights are understood and respected.

Another writer, in the Journal, fears that the price asked for the feeder canal is too high. THE SENTINEL wants the city to pay the least money possible for anything it buys, but people who discuss the canal question forget that when Messrs. Bass and Fleming sell the canal they sell the right to all the water in the St. Joe river, to the detriment and depreciation of the paper mill and Rudisill mill. It was to protect these interests they purchased the canal, and to destroy them they now propose to sell the feeder.

It is not the mere canal ditch the city of Fort Wayne is asked to purchase, but the entire and undoubted water flow of the St. Joe river where it runs purest and freest from its lake origin.

Out of the sale of the canal feeder for $50,000 Mr. J. H. Bass, Hon. Wm. Fleming and the Simons estate would realize something over $16,000 each. Mr. Bass, whose word no man will question, assured the council the other night that his interest in the feeder canal and its appurtenances cost him $19,000.

IN THE BUSY WORLD.

Personal Points and Pithy Paragraphs Picked up Around the Shops and Railroads of the City.

The reporter who starts out on a dull day to seek news soon finds himself at his wits ends for something to write about for that expectant public—the reading class—who on such occasions always seem to growl unless the paper is teeming over with bright and spicy locals and interesting personal items. In no field is this truer than the one in which it is the object of this column to fill. The men about the railroads and the shops are the busiest in the city. They are not only too busy to pay much attention to the little local happenings of the day, but they are often so busy that even a reporter, with twice the amount of brass that THE SENTINEL youth possesses, could not squeeze an item out of them for love or money. Such a day stared THE SENTINEL man in the face when he started out this morning on his usual rounds. He left the office at exactly 8 o'clock, taking the street car for the south depot, where he interviewed John E. Ross and Frank Bissel, of the Pittsburg ticket office, Geo. Gordon, the baggage master, and Deputy Marshal Limecooley and crossing the track to the Wabash he talked to J. M. McConnell and C. H. Newton, of the Wabash ticket office, Milo Brooks, the baggage master, and Tom Mannix, the mail agent. Then he went over to Superintendent Law's office, where he met C. R. Higgins, Mr. Law's chief clerk, and turning the corner he went into the Pittsburg offices. A hasty glance at Enoch Cox, W. H. Polhamus, Superintendent of Motive Power Wood, Assistant Master Mechanic Potter, and some of the other men in the offices and he ran up against B. Fitzpatrick, the foreman of the machine shop, and took a look in on Clerk J. H. Sloan, seated at his desk. His next call was on Ed Challenger, the clerk in the boiler shop, and jumping out of the window he went over to see Foreman Robert Harrison, of the machine shop. He then went up the track a short distance to the Olds works, dropped in on Clerk Joe Weismer, Business Manager J. H. Wilder, and H. S. Rodeheaver, the traveling agent. Items were dull here, and our reporter hurried down to the Bass works, where he made a round of the foremen of the different departments, J. C. Matsch, Robert Cram, Henry Stier, W. W. Myers and J. J. Stier, dropping into see clerk W. K. Noble, and H. M. Zauner, of the machine shop and Treasurer R. J. Fisher, Seymour Boyd, Frank Phillips, and Superintendent Pickard. The day was too hot to proceed further and our reporter took the street car and was down to the office again at 9:30 o'clock, writing the items gathered by him in his hasty trip. Nobody knew any news. They were all busy, too busy to talk, too busy to think of news, too busy to almost look at anybody and our reporter hearing the incessant and terrible yell of "copy" from the boys in the composing room dashed off this hasty account of his early morning wanderings.

Alexander Muirhead, a Wabash machinist, is just two or three boxes of cigars ahead. A brand new boy arrived at his house a month ago and the boys in the shop did not find it out until this week.

T. J. Rodebaugh, the foreman of the Pittsburg paint shop, drove his 2:13 steed on East Wayne street last night.

Mat Backus, of the Pittsburg boiler shop, is detained at home by the serious illness of his wife.

J. W. McGowan, of the Pittsburg boiler shop, has gone to Petoskey on a vacation, and F. M. Cherry is filling his place temporarily.

William Brandt, the foreman of the Rock Run furnaces of the Bass works in Alabama, is in the city visiting his brother, Diedrich Brandt, the foreman of the core shop of the Bass works here. Mr. Brandt has been absent from this city for several years and when he made his appearance at the shops this morning, with his heavy beard of former years shaved from his face, and looking so tall, fat and healthy, the boys in the works did not know him. He was formerly connected with the Bass works here.

J. C. Hewes, the foreman of the Pittsburg boiler shop; R. H. Harrison, the foreman of the car shop, Henry Buesching, of the boiler shop, and Captain Lewis went up the Maumee river this morning in search of a turtle, which Captain Lewis avows he did catch once, but which, in some unaccountable manner, escaped from him. The turtle is a big one, so the captain says, and the party will have an immense picnic when they return.

John C. Kensill, of the boiler shop, is up the St. Joe river to-day looking after the city's interests.

It is not generally understood what a general overhauling of an engine is. Every few years it is necessary to repair an engine, and it is sent to the shops. The engine is taken off the wheels, stripped, the boiler sent to the boiler department for cleaning and overhauling, the fire box repaired, the drivers planed down and if neccssary new tires put on, the frame taken apart and new frames put in when needed, then put together again, the boiler put on, covered and finally painted. That is a general overhauling.

The musician of the Bass works is August Fromuth, whose lathe in the machine department our reporter will not dare approach to-morrow. He and John Daley, whose melodious voice we have complimented before, are a happy pair. The other evening they started out to serenade their girls. It was decided to visit the house of August's girl first and underneath her window in the bright moonlight night they gathered. The first tune was commenced, but they got no further than a few notes when a bucketful of water from the second story window put an end to their music and their midnight serenade.

Frank Funk, the foreman of the moulding room in the Wabash shop, will spend next Sunday at Presque Isle with his family.

Mr. John Baillie, of the Wabash blacksmith shops, is laying off on account of sickness.

Mr. Jack Baillie, an old veteran blacksmith, formerly of the Wabash, has accepted a position in the Pan Handle shops, at Logansport.

Boxing is a favorite pastime during noon hour among the boys at the Pittsburg shops. Geo. Carling wears the championship belt, and will continue to do so, as it will take a good professional to knock him out. He has plenty of backers.

A peculiarity of Hood's Sarsaparilla is that while it purifies the blood, it imparts new vigor to every function of the body.

A Worthy Example.

A writer in the Indianapolis Journal relates this of the late Hon. Washington C. De Pauw: "Some years ago the New Albany rolling mill shut down and 300 men were thrown out of employment. Mr. De Pauw owned half of the stock of the mill. He proposed to the other stockholders to let them run the mill and he would resign all profits due him if they would start up for the benefit of the unemployed men. They refused, and he then offered to do the same thing and they consented. At the end of the first month, when the statement came in, he looked at it and saw that he had lost $1,000. Handing it back to the book-keeper he said: 'It is $1,000 out of my pocket, but $1,000 in clothing and food for the poor of New Albany.' The mill lost him money for several months, but the latter part of the year it paid well, and at the close the balance-sheet was in his favor."

A COMPLETE systematic botanical survey of India is to be made. The country has been divided into four great districts, in each of which the work has been placed in charge of a botanist familiar with the region.

The Cigarette.

Dr. Joseph Mulhall says: I am a cigarette smoker myself, and I am a defender of the habit, or, at least, an apologist for it. The charm of the smoking of cigarettes, by which I mean not the puff in and out of the mouth of the smoke, but its inhalation, is the quick and powerful stimulant it gives smoker. The cigar smoker says to the cigarette smoker, "What enjoyment can you get from smoking that tiny roll of paper with its little pinch of tobacco? Why don't you use a cigar or a pipe?" To which the cigarette smoker can reply, if he wants to argue, "My cigarette is a more powerful stimulant than the cigar," and he can prove it if the other will submit to a test. The stimulation of tobacco is caused by the absorption of the nicotine by the system. The smoke of a cigar or pipe reaches only the mucous membrane of the mouth, because it is not inhaled. The cigarette smoker inhales the smoke of his cigarette, and it touches not only the mouth but also the throat, and the membranes all the way down absorb the stimulant. The cigarette smoker, too, cannot smoke a weak cigarette with enjoyment, for one-half the pleasure of the smoke is caused by the contact of the smoke with the membranes. It must grip the throat, so to speak, to produce the pleasure. As to the evil effects of cigarette smoking there is much exaggeration. The habit can be justly charged with only one injurious effect which is not produced by other kinds of smoking. That is an irritation of the throat, which is noticed by almost all confirmed cigarette smokers in themselves. The idea that the smoke penetrates the lungs is a vulgar and absurd one. It never gets beyond the tidal air, and that means that it never reaches the lungs. Cigarette-smoking causes irregularity of the heart beats, what is known as "tobacco heat," and dimness of the vision, but these effect are produced by the use of tobacco in other forms. Boys, of course, are often permanently injured by it, but for adults it is a superior smoke to a cigar, and no more harmful.

Distress After Eating.

This result of indigestion will no longer be experienced if Simmons Liver Regulator is taken after each meal. It is such a good digester, and so mild and pleasant in its effect that it is used by many, after a hearty meal, to insure good digestion. The regulator does not nauseate or irritate the stomach, but corrects acidity, dispels foul gases, allays irritation, and assists the stomach in its digestion.

To imagine that the treatment of Constipation consists merely in unloading the bowels. The medicine must not only act as a purgative, but be a tonic as well, and not produce after its use greater costiveness. This is what Simmons Liver Regulator always does.

"As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels."—W. J. McELROY, Macon, Ga.

Believe us, when we tell you that most of the despondent feeling (the blues) is the effect of a Torpid Liver, Indigestion, Weakness of Stomach, and Nervousness. A dose of Simmons Liver Regulator invariably relieves, cures and prevents a re-occurrence.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

Large bottles (100 doses) $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 5, 1887.

Timon of Athens.

Timon, one of the lords of ancient Athens, belonged to one of the oldest and most respectable families of the town, his father before him having been in the flour and feed business. Being the possessor of a princely fortune his liberality knew no limits. He was not a man, on picking a fly out of the sugar bowl, to brush his legs off so as not to lose any particles of sugar that might adhere to them.

Not only the poor tasted of his bounty, but bankers, railroad magnates, and even journalists did not disdain to rank themselves among his dependents and followers. He was not one of those aristocrats who give tone to society but never give anything else. When he was told that his health was giving away he never objected. He was always willing to part with anything, even his own health, so liberal was Timon.

If a poet could not get the offspring of his muse inserted in any of the local papers even by paying for it at advertising rates, he would dedicate it to Timon, and then borrow a hundred and fifty dollars of him, although the reputation of the poet for paying debts was such that Timon might have known that he never gave back anything.

Judge Timon's house was infested with idle visitors, lying poets, painters, sharking tradesmen, lords, ladies, needy courtiers, and expectants raining their fulsome flatteries in his ears. It never occurred to him that fulsome compliments are called soft soap because there is so much lie in them. Timon swallowed flattery as a baby does buttons, without any idea of the trouble that may follow.

And when Timon was feasting in the midst of all these flatterers and mock friends, when they were eating him up and draining his fortune dry with large draughts of the richest wines drunk to his health and prosperity, he could not perceive the difference between a friend and a flatterer. It never occurred to him that his so-called friends flattered him in order to laugh at him.

In vain did his honest book-keeper, a German named Herr Fishangel, warn him that his riches, which were not infinite, must needs melt away before a prodigality which knew no limits.

Timon would tell him to go soak his head, or turn the discourse to something else with a merry laugh, then send him out with a growler for some more beer, utterly regardless of expense.

At last the crisis came. Timon had completely exhausted the appropriation, but he told Fishangel to go out and collect some of the hundreds of thousands of dollars which he had lent his friends. In a short time Fishangel returned with the ceiling of his pants worn off by the friction of the feet of Timon's friends. One friend said he was so weak he couldn't stand alone—of $5. Another replied that he never used money to pay debts with. After that Timon's house was lonely as a store that don't advertise.

Disgusted with all mankind, Timon betook himself to the woods, wishing that the walls of Athens might fall upon the people, and that all the plagues which infest humanity might fasten upon the inhabitants. Timon even refused to wear clothes in his solitude, and allowed his hair and beard to grow out. He refused several offers from dime museums to pose as a wild man from Borneo. He was disgusted with the entire human race. He swore that he would get even with the Athenians some fine day.

Shortly afterward, the clerk of the Athens Waterworks Co. was much annoyed by the complaints of the patrons. They kicked about a peculiar taste in the water, and refused to pay their bills. The Board of Health had the water examined, and various microbes with long Latin aliases were unearthed. At last the water was allowed to make its escape from the reservoir, and the Athenians were shocked to find the body of their former fellow-citizen, Mr. Timon.—Texas Siftings.

Maine's Moral Stage-Driver.

A large number of stage lines radiate from Skowhegan. The longest route is from Skowhegan to the Forks, fifty miles. Irving Young, who drives it, says the Lewiston (Me.) Journal, is the best whip in Maine.

Young used to be a river driver. He is six feet three inches high, about 50 years old, a rough, weather-beaten fellow with a sledge-hammer fist and a soft heart. He is noted for his wonderful aim with the whip-lash and for his happy way of managing the loads of half-drunken log-drivers that he sometimes carries in the spring and fall. You would as soon think of a Texas cowboy ditributing tracts as of this tough stager adopting a moral code for his passengers; but he has one, nevertheless, and suffers no violations of it. He forbids all profane and indecent language on his stage, and the river drivers have to mind the rule when they are on board.

"I'd just as lief my wife would ride to the Forks on his stage as not, no matter how rough a crowd he might have on," said a Skowhegan admirer of "Irv" to the writer.

Young used to have a row with his passengers once in awhile, but his reputation is now so well established that he seldom has any trouble.

An incident that occurred a few years ago illustrates his control over brawlers. A crew of them rode with him and became too noisy. When he remonstrated they grew saucy and seemed indisposed to mind him. After very little talk he pulled up and jumped down from the box.

"Gentlemen," said he, with mock respect, "I thought I was the driver of this stage, but I find I've got to see whether I am or not. I go in for letting the best man drive." He pulled off his coat and added: "I'm ready to take you one at time and see who is the best man."

"You're the best man, Irv."

"Oh, go ahead and drive, Irv."

This was all the fellows said in answer to his challenge. He gathered up the reins and had no more trouble with his crew.

A Japanese Fairy Tale.

Once upon a time there were eighty-one brothers, who were all princes, and all in love with the Princess of Yakami. One day they set out for the palace, making the eighty-first brother, whom they all hated, carry the baggage. On the way they met a hare who had lost his fur and was in a bad way generally. They were wicked men and knew nothing of Mr. Colam and the Society for the Protection of Animals, so they advised the hare to take a sea bath and then dry himself in the sun. This prescription reduced the patient to a worse condition than before, and when Prince Eighty-one came up with the general portmanteau, he found the hare rolling and yelling in an agony of unrest and pain. The prince, who was not a bit like his eighty brothers, was moved to compassion and inquired of the hare how and why he had lost his fur. The creature's story is an example of the perils of deceitfulness. He had had occasion to cross the sea from Oki to the mainland, and as he could not swim and there was no bridge he suggested to the sea crocodiles—amphibia, it seems, of a statistical term of mind—that it would be a good thing to count how many of them there was in the water and how many of his own kind on the land; after which they could compare notes and discuss the difference in a scientific spirit. The idea was as well received by the crocodiles as it would be by certain human beings. They drew themselves up in a line from shore to shore, and the hare ran along their backs as upon a bridge, counting each one as he went. Just before he got to land, however, it occurred to him that the jest would hardly be complete unless the victims were admitted to participation. So he told the crocodiles what a humorist he was; and the last of the chain was moved to lay hold upon him as he landed and emphasize his own and kinsman's enjoyment of the joke by plucking out the joker's fur. The result of his appeal to the eighty merry princes has already been told; so that twice in succession had the poor wag seen the laugh turned very much against him, and the proof that cheating never prospers brought home to him with every circumstance of ignominy. Readers of fairy stories scarce need to be told that Prince Eighty-one healed the hare of his wounds, or that it was by means of the hare that they were baffled, and the prize awarded to the proper person.—Saturday Review.

Self-Preservation is the First Law

Of nature was thoroughly demonstrated by the people who rush into our store for relief and comfort. Pongees, Mohairs, Drap d'etes and Seersucker coats and vests fell before the throng of purchasers, who were determined to meet Old Sol advancing at the uncomfortable pressure of 98 degrees in the shade. The conflict raged long through every department, and as we gather up the scattered garments and arranged the broken lines of sizes, we felt sure that the people had won a handsome victory. You are earnestly invited to renew the attack, when a pleasant reception awaits you. Our great stock is complete in every department.

MANY persons are under the impression that Ivory Soap is expensive, and intended for the use of the wealthy only. The fact is, the price is lower than for ordinary soaps, quality considered, for in the "Ivory" no "cheapeners" or "makeweights" are used, so the buyer gets all "true soap" for her money. Its harmlessness, durability and efficiency admit of its being used for all purposes with equal satisfaction and economy in the families of the rich or poor.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

A WASHINGTON correspondent of the St. Paul Globe writes: The following little incident in the Congressional history of Secretary Lamar is thus interestingly told by Col. J. H. Elliott: "Sam Randall deserves infinite credit for the successful parliamentary fight he made on the force bill, but without Lamar's assistance the battle would have been lost. He said to Lamar, who fought with equal courage and ability in the crisis of the controversy, that he could kill time no longer by an appeal to the rules. Both for three days and nights had gone without sleep or rest. Lamar staggered under the remark of Randall, and in a spirit of desperation, during a brief recess of the House, he wandered through the corridors aimlessly. Quite to his surprise, he found himself in the presence of Mr. Blaine, who rallied him on his dejected, haggard look, and inquired the cause. He remarked that the game was ended—the South must go under. Blaine, who at heart was opposed to the act, asked him why he did not call for the reading of the three days' proceedings, which right could not be denied to a member. With a cry of relief, Lamar as quick as thought hastened back to Randall and communicated his plan. The call for reading was then made, but since it would have consumed over a half day's time, and thereby closed the session, the adversary, perceiving the advantage thus gained, surrendered the contest. The fight was abandoned and the battle won."

GHASTLY.

A Dead Body Discovered in a Baker Street Stable.

In a stable, in the rear of house, No. 63 Baker street, some painters at work on the premises, made a ghastly discovery.

In a box, in the corner of the barn, was the dead body of an unknown man. The flesh was black, indicating that it was stored there some weeks.

From a cross beam, near by, hung an arm of the dead person. Conductor Tom Collins claims the body as his property, and the officers are investigating.

The Lake Manawa Disaster.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 5.—Late advices from Lake Manawa state that there were fully thirty excursionists on the steamer which capsized last week. Five more are known to have been drowned and it is thought that two or three others shared a similar fate as they are still missing. The bodies of Joseph Newman, George Cartright and C. H. Person, besides those of two unknown men, have been recovered.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 5.—Four weeks ago Duke Campbell was brutally murdered at Scottsboro, Ala., because he was about to squeal on the parties who had robbed the county clerk's office of $1,500. Last night a man by the name of Robinson was arrested by Detective Elliott in this city, charged with committing the murder. He was taken to Scottsboro this a morning.

JOHN HENRY.

Tumbles From a Dizzy Height in St. Mary's Church and is Fatally Injured.

John Henry, of Avilla, was employed at carpenter work on the new St. Mary's Catholic church.

This afternoon he engaged himself in one of the steeples at a great height—say seventy-five or 100 feet. His movements were not noticed until his body was whirled down the shaft like opening to sink itself in the pile of bricks below, a horrid, bleeding mass.

In his flight to death, Henry carried timbers, stones and bricks with him, and they fell crashing on his almost lifeless form.

His fellow workman, directed by Rev. Father Oechtering, carried the sufferer to the city hospital. There Dr. McClanahand pronounced his skull fractured, one of his shoulders crushed to a jelly, and internal injuries of such a nature as to preclude the possibility of his recovery.

THE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

Dr. Fritsche Reports Some of the Public Institutions in a Bad Way.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 5.—The state board of health met yesterday. Dr. Fritsche made reports on the number of buildings he has visited. He finds that jails in Lawrence and Perry counties are unfit for human habitation. He recommended the condemnation of both. He also found the poor house of Lawrence county in a horrible condition and the overseer pocketing the proceeds of the labor of all the inmates. He could hire out to farmers at ridiculously low wages—$1.75 per week.

Young children were forced to sleep with old inmates, who are afflicted with all sorts of loathsome diseases. The poor house of Spencer county is in a poor condition, also Perry county is powerless to do anything to aid the poor and criminal captives, as both county treasurer and prosecuting attorney have been away, the former took all the funds and the county is about bankrupt.

UP THE FEEDER.

The City Officials Take a Look at the Headwaters of the St. Joe.

This morning a party of city officials, and others who desired to go, accompanied Hon. Wm. Fleming and Mr. J. H. Bass for an inspection of the feeder canal and the dam that controls the headwaters of the St. Joe river.

The drive up along the feeder was a pleasant one and from the gentlemen interviewed by THE SENTINEL representative it is learned that the property is in excellent shape. The river water was sampled by the visitors and a careful survey of the premises was had.

Among the excursionists were Hon. Wm. Fleming, Mr. J. H. Bass, Mayor Mahler, Treasurer Bergholf, City Assessor Reese, Civil Engineer Goshorn, Street Commissioner O'Brien, Marshal Meyer, Councilmen Buttenhender, Doehrman, Griffith, Kenuil, Kelker, Meyer, Michael, Hazzard, Read, Schaid, Lahmeyer, Shordan, Woulfe, Williams, and Captain A. H. Dongall, Anselm Foelber, and Mr. Mills, of the firm of Elliott, Mills and Temple, water wheel manufacturers, of Dayton, Ohio.

The tourists were agreeably surprised at the solidity of the feeder canal and dam, as well as at the purity and extent of the water in the St. Joe river. It is like a lake up there and the river is navigable for big steamers some eighteen miles northward.

The question of a water supply now resolves itself for solution.

If the city sinks experimental wells, at a cost of $10,000, or goes to the St. Joe river, near the brewery, at a cost of 40,000 or $50,000, for a water supply, it must purchase a $27,000 or $37,000 pumping engine, because the one now in use is not sufficient and the old engine is condemned.

The feeder canal gives the city a water supply from the headwaters of the St. Joe river and power for pumping besides, making the purchase of a $27,000 or $37,000 engine unnecessary.

Tax payers will have no trouble solving this problem.

The Fire Record.

DOVER, N. Y., Aug. 5.—The St. James and Eastern hotels were destroyed by fire at midnight last night. No casualties are reported.

The total loss on the hotels will probably reach $75,000. The insurance on the Eastern hotel is small. The St. James hotel has no insurance. The fire is thought to be the work of an incendiary.

JOLIET, Ill., Aug. 5.—The prairie fire broke out afresh in another place and burned over one thousand acres and one house was destroyed. The fire went faster than a man could run. The fire finally subdued near Matteson. In the woods the fire is still burning. It burns the largest trees down and burns them out by the roots.

A LUCKY HAUL.

A Noted Burglar Captured by the Jersey City Detectives With a Complete Outfit of Burglars Tools.

JERSEY CITY, Aug. 5.—Detectives yesterday arrested George Forth, a noted burglar, who is wanted for the burglary of Fairchild & Co's. jewelry store in Bridgeport, Connecticut, July 17. The safe was broken open and $15,000 worth of diamonds and jewelry stolen. He returned recently from a professional trip to Europe, which is said to have been very successful.

In his lodgings a startling array of burglars tools were found, including jimmies, wedges, lock-picks, saws, sledges, braces, bits of all kinds, over 500 keys of various shapes, wax impressions of keys, and books containing cipher entries. Ten pounds of dynamite cartridges were found buried in the yard. The detectives say it is the most complete burglars outfit they ever saw.

He Fell Fifty Feet.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 5.—At 3 o'clock yesterday morning Thomas Cameron was sitting in the window of his room on the fourth floor of the hotel which opens on a court in the Evening Wisconsin building. He tumbled backward and fell headlong down, dropping a distance of over fifty feet. Near the bottom he struck a sky light of half inch glass, smashing it, and also breaking an inch cast-iron frame and several gas pipes and rods that crossed the room. Cameron landed on an elevated platform which was filled with paper in the stock room of the Wisconsin establishment. Blood flew in every direction, and when his companions reached him he was apparently dead, and cannot live long. He had been drinking considerably during the day.

The Texas Election.

GALVESTON, Aug. 5.—All interest centered in the prohibition amendment in the election held yesterday. The fight for and against its ratification was conducted with great vigor. Never in the history of Texas has such a canvass been waged. It was no party issue. The ablest men of both parties were arrayed against each other in the contest. Able men from abroad took part. The papers of the state discussed daily for and against until the people from one end of the great state to the other were thoroughly aroused. The prohibitionists admit their defeat in the state by 15,000 majority. The anti-prohibitionists claim 50,000 majority. Sixty-one towns give 4,017 majority against prohibition.

A Fatal Fall.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—A nine year old boy was this morning seen to crawl out a rear fourth story window of tenement house No. 21, Spring street, to reach the fire escape and attempt to descend. He had not got half way down when either from weakness or dizziness at the great heighth, he lost his hold and fell to the pavement. He will probably die. It was learned that the parents of the boy always locked him up when they went to work and left him without food. Hunger impelled him to try to make his way to the street.

The Kentucky Election.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 5.—No additional returns have been received this morning from the election. The democrats estimate Buckner's majority at safely over 20,000, and though the republicans claim it will be under that, their claims cannot be borne out by the returns. All the larger counties are in, and only a few mountain counties are to be heard from, and giving these all to Bradley by an increased republican vote, he will not come within ten thousand of Buckner's vote.

Boring a Square Hole.

An Iowa genius devoted fourteen of the best years of his life to solve the problem of boring a square hole, and boasts success. His patents were disposed of to J. F. Curtice, of Fort Wayne, Ind. A company was organized at Wooster, O., and the last two years have been devoted to perfecting the machine, which was at first cumbersome and somewhat complicated. It is now simple and admirably adapted to the purpose for which it is intended. The machine is on exhibition in the basement of 90 Griswold street, and attracts a great deal of attention. Carpenters, builders, contractors and capitalists are all in to see it work, and all pronounce it an invention that will meet with universal demand. It is simply an oscillating head with chisel edges and projecting lips which cut out the corners in advance of the chisel. The balance of the machine is almost an exact counterpart of the old style boring machine. It will cut a two by four mortise in from four to five minutes, and boring it with perfect accuracy, that a carpenter can not possibly complete in less than half an hour.—Detroit News.

THREE OF 'EM.

Young Men Who Worked Themselves Into the Clutches of the Law.

Deputy Sheriff Wilkinson went to Huntertown this morning to arrest Zena Herring, who is charged with stealing bed clothes and such from his mother-in-law, Mrs. Hudson. Herring pawned the stuff and will get himself into trouble.

Ben Roy, a young man, was arrested last night for passing a counterfeit dollar on Homer, the Barr street saloon man. He is a brother-in-law of Albert Gessler, the Main street butcher, and his mother lives at New Haven. Roy is having an examination before Federal Commissioner Harper this afternoon.

John Whalen purchased some furniture from J. H. Ray, a Clinton street dealer, on a contract that the title should not pass until the purchase price was fully paid. Whalen, it is said, sold the furniture for fifty dollars to Erastus Shuman. Ray replevied the goods and Shuman had Whalen arrested. Justice Harding bound Whalen over for trial this morning. He has been drinking hard of late, and recently lost a good situation in the electric light works.

Rev. Father O'Reilly Dead.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger has received the sad news of the death of Rev. M. O'Reilly at his home in Valparaiso last evening at 9 o'clock. His death occurred from the effects of paralysis, at the age of fifty-four years. He would have celebrated his 25th year in the priesthood next December had he lived. Father O'Reilly came to this country from Ireland when a young man and for some years was a teacher in the public schools of Ohio. He acquired his classical education at Oberlin and studied theology at Mt. St. Mary's Seminary, Cincinnati. He was ordained to the priesthood by Rt. Rev. Bishop Lamrs in the Cathedral of this city. He was at once appointed to Valparaiso and has been there ever since.

He was one of the two theologians that accompanied Bishop Dwenger to the Fourth Provincial Council of Cincinnati. He was a member of the diocesan school board, and for some years performed the arduous duties of secretary of that body. He was also a member of Bishop Dwenger's council.

The funeral will occur next Saturday morning interment will be in that beautiful cemetery purchased by himself. Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger and clergy of this city will leave for Valparaiso on No. 9 this evening.

The Second Church Excursion.

The 7 o'clock train on the Pittsburg road yesterday morning took with it two coaches comfortably filled with excursionists bound for Eagle lake, Beyer Brothers' resort, Warsaw, under the auspices of the Ladies' Sewing society of the Second Presbyterian church. It was a happy party, bent on having a good, sociable time, and by all accounts they had it. The treasurer of the society's purse is awarded in the sum of about $50 clear profit. A SENTINEL representative, who accompanied the excursion, was placed under obligations to Mr. Miller, the gentlemanly landscape gardner, for some choice flowers out of his green house.

Daily Sentinel

FRIDAY, AUGUST 5, 1887.

COLONEL ROBERTSON is not worrying about the enmity of the railroad corporations. Such things make men popular.

THE city wants to own all the water in the St. Joe river, where it is plentiful and wholesome. This is the great point to consider, and just where the value of the feeder canal comes in.

SOME of the state newspapers mention Hon. C. A. Munson, of this city, as a prospective candidate for auditor of state next year. Mr. Munson has lost none of his popularity, at home or abroad.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND announces that he will visit Columbus and Indianapolis while en route to St. Louis, this fall. Fort Wayne is not on this railroad line, and might as well resign itself to its fate unless we can have the chief magistrate come back by the Fort Wayne route.

LEADING German Catholic priests in New York express cordial approval of the movement to secure a larger German representation among the Roman episcopate and clergy of the country. The convention to be held in Chicago next month in the interest of the movement promises to be a very important affair.

THE resolutions recently adopted by the National Veterans' association of Des Moines, Ia., repudiating the utterances of certain members of the G. A. R., in connection with a proposed visit of President Cleveland to St. Louis while the Grand Army encampment was in progress there, commending the president's veto of the dependent pension bill, condemning the efforts of "those who seek by the rebel flag episode to rekindle the flames of sectional hate and contention" as unmanly, unpatriotic and meriting the contempt of intelligent men, were presented to the president by General Rosecrans.

THE FEEDER CANAL.

A writer in the Gazette contends that Mr. J. H. Bass and others, who own the Rudisill mill, and Hon. Wm. Fleming, who owns the paper mill, have no right to the water in the St. Joe river that the water works trustees need respect. Unfortunately for the trustees these socialistic opinions do not prevail in courts of justice, or any place else where property rights are understood and respected.

Another writer, in the Journal, fears that the price asked for the feeder canal is too high. THE SENTINEL wants the city to pay the least money possible for anything it buys, but people who discuss the canal question forget that when Messrs. Bass and Fleming sell the canal they sell the right to all the water in the St. Joe river, to the detriment and depreciation of the paper mill and Rudisill mill. It was to protect these interests they purchased the canal, and to destroy them they now propose to sell the feeder.

It is not the mere canal ditch the city of Fort Wayne is asked to purchase, but the entire and undoubted water flow of the St. Joe river where it runs purest and freest from its lake origin.

Out of the sale of the canal feeder for $50,000 Mr. J. H. Bass, Hon. Wm. Fleming and the Simons estate would realize something over $16,000 each. Mr. Bass, whose word no man will question, assured the council the other night that his interest in the feeder canal and its appurtenances cost him $19,000.

IN THE BUSY WORLD.

Personal Points and Pithy Paragraphs Picked up Around the Shops and Railroads of the City.

The reporter who starts out on a dull day to seek news soon finds himself at his wits ends for something to write about for that expectant public—the reading class—who on such occasions always seem to growl unless the paper is teeming over with bright and spicy locals and interesting personal items. In no field is this truer than the one in which it is the object of this column to fill. The men about the railroads and the shops are the busiest in the city. They are not only too busy to pay much attention to the little local happenings of the day, but they are often so busy that even a reporter, with twice the amount of brass that THE SENTINEL youth possesses, could not squeeze an item out of them for love or money. Such a day stared THE SENTINEL man in the face when he started out this morning on his usual rounds. He left the office at exactly 8 o'clock, taking the street car for the south depot, where he interviewed John E. Ross and Frank Bissel, of the Pittsburg ticket office, Geo. Gordon, the baggage master, and Deputy Marshal Lanigan and crossing the track to the Wabash he talked to J. M. McConnell and C. H. Newton, of the Wabash ticket office, Milo Brooks, the baggage master, and Tom Mannix, the mail agent. Then he went over to Superintendent Law's office, where he met C. R. Higgins, Mr. Law's chief clerk, and turning the corner he went into the Pittsburg offices. A hasty glance at Enoch Cox, W. H. Polhamus, Superintendent of Motive Power Wood, Assistant Master Mechanic Fisher, and some of the other men in the offices and he ran up against R. Fitzpatrick, the foreman of the machine shop, and took a look in on Clerk J. H. Sloan, seated at his desk. His next call was on Ed Challenger, the clerk in the boiler shop, and jumping out of the window he went over to see Foreman Robert Harrison, of the machine shop. He then went up the track a short distance to the Olds works, dropped in on Clerk Joe Weismer, Business Manager J. H. Wilder, and H. S. Rodeheaver, the traveling agent. Items were dull here, and our reporter hurried down to the Bass works, where he made a round of the foremen of the different departments, J. C. Mitsch, Robert Cram, Henry Stier, W. W. Myers and J. J. Stier, dropping into see clerk W. K. Noble, and H. M. Zanner, of the machine shop and Treasurer R. J. Fisher, Seymour Boyd, Frank Phillips, and Superintendent Pickard. The day was too hot to proceed further and our reporter took the street car and was down to the office again at 9.30 o'clock, writing the items gathered by him in his hasty trip. Nobody knew any news. They were all busy, too busy to talk, too busy to think of news, too busy to almost look at anybody and our reporter hearing the incessant and terrible yell of "copy" from the boys in the composing room dashed off this hasty account of his early morning wanderings.

Alexander Muirhead, a Wabash machinist, is just two or three boxes of cigars ahead. A brand new boy arrived at his house a month ago and the boys in the shop did not find it out until this week.

T. J. Rodebaugh, the foreman of the Pittsburg paint shop, drove his 2:13 steed on East Wayne street last night.

Sam Henderson, the foreman in the Pittsburg copper shop, contemplates a vacation at Maxinkuckee.

Mat Backus, of the Pittsburg boiler shop, is detained at home by the serious illness of his wife.

J. W. McGowan, of the Pittsburg boiler shop, has gone to Petoskey on a vacation, and F. M. Cherry is filling his place temporarily.

William Brandt, the foreman of the Rock Run furnaces of the Bass works in Alabama, is in the city visiting his brother, Diedrich Brandt, the foreman of the core shop of the Bass works here. Mr. Brandt has been absent from this city for several years and when he made his appearance at the shops this morning, with his heavy beard of former years shaved from his face, and looking so tall, fat and healthy, the boys in the works did not know him. He was formerly connected with the Bass works here.

J. C. Hewes, the foreman of the Pittsburg boiler shop; R. H. Harrison, the foreman of the car shop, Henry Ruesching, of the boiler shop, and Captain Lewis went up the Maumee river this morning in search of a turtle, which Captain Lewis avows he did catch once, but which, in some unaccountable manner, escaped from him. The turtle is a big one, so the captain says, and the party will have an immense picnic when they return.

John C. Kensill, of the boiler shop, is up the St. Joe river to-day looking after the city's interests.

It is not generally understood what a general overhauling of an engine is. Every few years it is necessary to repair an engine, and it is sent to the shops. The engine is taken off the wheels, stripped, the boiler sent to the boiler department for cleaning and overhauling, the fire box repaired, the drivers planed down and if necessary new tires put on, the frame taken apart and new frames put in when needed, then put together again, the boiler put on, covered and finally painted. That is a general overhauling.

The musician of the Bass works is August Fromuth, whose lathe in the machine department our reporter will not dare approach to-morrow. He and John Daley, whose melodious voice we have complimented before, are a happy pair. The other evening they started out to serenade their girls. It was decided to visit the house of August's girl first and underneath her window in the bright moonlight night they gathered. The first tune was commenced, but they got no further than a few notes when a bucketful of water from the second story window put an end to their music and their midnight serenade.

Frank Funk, the foreman of the moulding room in the Wabash shop, will spend next Sunday at Presque Isle with his family.

Mr. John Baillie, of the Wabash blacksmith shops, is laying off on account of sickness.

Mr. Jack Baillie, an old veteran blacksmith, formerly of the Wabash, has accepted a position in the Pan Handle shops, at Logansport.

Boxing is a favorite pastime during noon hour among the boys at the Pittsburg shops. Geo. Carling wears the championship belt, and will continue to do so, as it will take a good professional to knock him out. He has plenty of backers.

A peculiarity of Hood's Sarsaparilla is that while it purifies the blood, it imparts new vigor to every function of the body.

A Worthy Example.

A writer in the Indianapolis Journal relates this of the late Hon. Washington C. De Pauw: "Some years ago the New Albany rolling mill shut down and 300 men were thrown out of employment. Mr. De Pauw owned half of the stock of the mill. He proposed to the other stockholders to let them run the mill and he would resign all profits due him if they would start up for the benefit of the unemployed men. They refused, and he then offered to do the same thing and they consented. At the end of the first month, when the statement came in, he looked at it and saw that he had lost $1,000. Handing it back to the book-keeper he said: 'It is $1,000 out of my pocket, but $1,000 in clothing and food for the poor of New Albany.' The mill lost him money for several months, but the latter part of the year it paid well, and at the close the balance-sheet was in his favor."

A COMPLETE systematic botanical survey of India is to be made. The country has been divided into four great districts, in each of which the work has been placed in charge of a botanist familiar with the region.

The Cigarette.

Dr. Joseph Mulhall says: I am a cigarette smoker myself, and I am a defender of the habit, or, at least, an apologist for it. The charm of the smoking of cigarettes, by which I mean not the puff in and out of the mouth of the smoke, but its inhalation, is the quick and powerful stimulant it gives smoker. The cigar smoker says to the cigarette smoker, "What enjoyment can you get from smoking that tiny roll of paper with its little pinch of tobacco? Why don't you use a cigar or a pipe?" To which the cigarette smoker can reply, if he wants to argue, "My cigarette is a more powerful stimulant than the cigar," and he can prove it if the other will submit to a test. The stimulation of tobacco is caused by the absorption of the nicotine by the system. The smoke of a cigar or pipe reaches only the mucous membrane of the mouth, because it is not inhaled. The cigarette smoker inhales the smoke of his cigarette, and it touches not only the mouth but also the throat, and the membranes all the way down absorb the stimulant. The cigarette smoker, too, cannot smoke a weak cigarette with enjoyment, for one-half the pleasure of the smoke is caused by the contact of the smoke with the membranes. It must grip the throat, so to speak, to produce the pleasure. As to the evil effects of cigarette smoking there is much exaggeration. The habit can be justly charged with only one injurious effect which is not produced by other kinds of smoking. That is an irritation of the throat, which is noticed by almost all confirmed cigarette smokers in themselves. The idea that the smoke penetrates the lungs is a vulgar and absurd one. It never gets beyond the tidal air, and that means that it never reaches the lungs. Cigarette-smoking causes irregularity of the heart beats, what is known as "tobacco heart," and dimness of the vision, but these effects are produced by the use of tobacco in other forms. Boys, of course, are often permanently injured by it, but for adults it is a superior smoke to a cigar, and no more harmful.

To imagine that the treatment of Constipation consists merely in unloading the bowels. The medicine must not only act as a purgative, but be a tonic as well, and not produce after its use greater costiveness. This is what Simmons Liver Regulator always does.

"As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels."—W. J. McElroy, Macon, Ga.

Believe us, when we tell you that most of the despondent feeling (the Blues) is the effect of a Torpid Liver, Indigestion, Weakness of Stomach, and Nervousness. A dose of Simmons Liver Regulator invariably relieves, cures and prevents a reoccurrence.

"I find Simmons Liver Regulator very safe, harmless and valuable as a family medicine, and I use it for any disorder of the system and I know from use that it acts like a charm, and I believe that if it was used in time, it would prove a great preventive of sickness. I have often recommended it to my friends, and shall continue to do so.—Rev. James M. Rollins, Fairfield, Va.

Simmons Liver Regulator is given with safety and with the happiest results, in almost any ailment, to the most delicate infant as well as to the adult. For all diseases in which a laxative, alterative, or purgative is needed, it will give the most perfect satisfaction. It is the cheapest, purest and best Family Medicine in the world.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 5, 1887.

Timon of Athens.

Timon, one of the lords of ancient Athens, belonged to one of the oldest and most respectable families of the town, his father before him having been in the flour and feed business. Being the possessor of a princely fortune his liberality knew no limits. He was not a man, on picking a fly out of the sugar bowl, to brush his legs off so as not to lose any particles of sugar that might adhere to them.

Not only the poor tasted of his bounty, but bankers, railroad magnates, and even journalists did not disdain to rank themselves among his dependents and followers. He was not one of those aristocrats who give tone to society but never give anything else. When he was told that his health was giving away he never objected. He was always willing to part with anything, even his own health, so liberal was Timon.

If a poet could not get the offspring of his muse inserted in any of the local papers even by paying for it at advertising rates, he would dedicate it to Timon, and then borrow a hundred and fifty dollars of him, although the reputation of the poet for paying debts was such that Timon might have known that he never gave back anything.

Judge Timon's house was infested with idle visitors, lying poets, painters, sharking tradesmen, lords, ladies, needy courtiers, and expectants raising their fulsome flatteries in his ears. It never occurred to him that fulsome compliments are called soft soap because there is so much lie in them. Timon swallowed flattery as a baby does buttons, without any idea of the trouble that may follow.

And when Timon was feasting in the midst of all these flatterers and mock friends, when they were eating him up and draining his fortune dry with large draughts of the richest wines drunk to his health and prosperity, he could not perceive the difference between a friend and a flatterer. It never occurred to him that his so-called friends flattered him in order to laugh at him.

In vain did his honest book-keeper, a German named Herr Fishangel, warn him that his riches, which were not infinite, must needs melt away before a prodigality which knew no limits.

Timon would tell him to go soak his head, or turn the discourse to something else with a merry laugh, then send him out with a growler for some more beer, utterly regardless of expense.

At last the crisis came. Timon had completely exhausted the appropriation, but he told Fishangel to go out and collect some of the hundreds of thousands of dollars which he had lent his friends. In a short time Fishangel returned with the ceiling of his pants worn off by the friction of the feet of Timon's friends. One friend said he was so weak he couldn't stand alone—of $5. Another replied that he never used money to pay debts with. After that Timon's house was lonely as a store that don't advertise.

Disgusted with all mankind, Timon betook himself to the woods, wishing that the walls of Athens might fall upon the people, and that all the plagues which infest humanity might fasten upon the inhabitants. Timon even refused to wear clothes in his solitude, and allowed his hair and beard to grow out. He refused several offers from dime museums to pose as a wild man from Borneo. He was disgusted with the entire human race. He swore that he would get even with the Athenians some fine day.

Shortly afterward, the clerk of the Athens Waterworks Co. was much annoyed by the complaints of the patrons. They kicked about a peculiar taste in the water, and refused to pay their bills. The Board of Health had the water examined, and various microbes with long Latin aliases were unearthed. At last the water was allowed to make its escape from the reservoir, and the Athenians were shocked to find the body of their former fellow-citizen, Mr. Timon.—Texas Siftings.

Maine's Moral Stage-Driver.

A large number of stage lines radiate from Skowhegan. The longest route is from Skowhegan to the Forks, fifty miles. Irving Young, who drives it, says the Lewiston (Me.) Journal, is the best whip in Maine.

Young used to be a river driver. He is six feet three inches high, about 50 years old, a rough, weather-beaten fellow with a sledge-hammer fist and a soft heart. He is noted for his wonderful aim with the whip-lash and for his happy way of managing the loads of half-drunken log-drivers that he sometimes carries in the spring and fall. You would as soon think of a Texas cowboy distributing tracts as of this tough stager adopting a moral code for his passengers; but he has one, nevertheless, and suffers no violations of it. He forbids all profane and indecent language on his stage, and the river drivers have to mind the rule when they are on board.

"I'd just as lief my wife would ride to the Forks on his stage as not, no matter how rough a crowd he might have on," said a Skowhegan admirer of "Irv" to the writer.

Young used to have a row with his passengers once in awhile, but his reputation is now so well established that he seldom has any trouble.

An incident that occurred a few years ago illustrates his control over brawlers. A crew of them rode with him and became too noisy. When he remonstrated they grew saucy and seemed indisposed to mind him. After very little talk he pulled up and jumped down from the box.

"Gentlemen," said he, with mock respect, "I thought I was the driver of this stage, but I find I've got to see whether I am or not. I go in for letting the best man drive." He pulled off his coat and added: "I'm ready to take you one at time and see who is the best man."

"You're the best man, Irv."

"Oh, go ahead and drive, Irv."

This was all the fellows said in answer to his challenge. He gathered up the reins and had no more trouble with his crew.

A Japanese Fairy Tale.

Once upon a time there were eighty-one brothers, who were all princes, and all in love with the Princess of Yakami. One day they set out for the palace, making the eighty-first brother, whom they all hated, carry the baggage. On the way they met a hare who had lost his fur and was in a bad way generally. They were wicked men and knew nothing of Mr. Colam and the Society for the Protection of Animals, so they advised the hare to take a sea bath and then dry himself in the sun. This prescription reduced the patient to a worse condition than before, and when Prince Eighty-one came up with the general portmanteau, he found the hare rolling and yelling in an agony of unrest and pain. The prince, who was not a bit like his eighty brothers, was moved to compassion and inquired of the hare how and why he had lost his fur. The creature's story is an example of the perils of deceitfulness. He had had occasion to cross the sea from Oki to the mainland, and as he could not swim and there was no bridge he suggested to the sea crocodiles—amphibia, it seems, of a statistical turn of mind—that it would be a good thing to count how many of them there was in the water and how many of his own kind on the land; after which they could compare notes and discuss the difference in a scientific spirit. The idea was as well received by the crocodiles as it would be by certain human beings. They drew themselves up in a line from shore to shore, and the hare ran along their backs as upon a bridge, counting each one as he went. Just before he got to land, however, it occurred to him that the jest would hardly be complete unless the victims were admitted to participation. So he told the crocodiles what a humorist he was; and the last of the chain was moved to lay hold upon him as he landed and emphasize his own and kinsman's enjoyment of the joke by plucking out the joker's fur. The result of his appeal to the eighty merry princes has already been told; so that twice in succession had the poor wag seen the laugh turned very much against him, and the proof that cheating never prospers brought home to him with every circumstance of ignominy. Readers of fairy stories scarce need to be told that Prince Eighty-one healed the hare of his wounds, or that it was by means of the hare that they were baffled, and the prize awarded to the proper person.—Saturday Review.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Self-Preservation is the First Law

Of nature was thoroughly demonstrated by the people who rush into our store for relief and comfort. Pongees, Mohairs, Drap d'etes and Seersucker coats and vests fell before the throng of purchasers, who were determined to meet Old Sol advancing at the uncomfortable pressure of 98 degrees in the shade. The conflict raged long through every department, and as we gather up the scattered garments and arranged the broken lines of sizes, we felt sure that the people had won a handsome victory. You are earnestly invited to renew the attack, when a pleasant reception awaits you. Our great stock is complete in every department.

"THE BEST IS THE CHEAPEST."

MANY persons are under the impression that Ivory Soap is expensive, and intended for the use of the wealthy only. The fact is, the price is lower than for ordinary soaps, quality considered, for in the "Ivory" no "cheapeners" or "makeweights" are used, so the buyer gets all "true soap" for her money. Its harmlessness, durability and efficiency admit of its being used for all purposes with equal satisfaction and economy in the families of the rich or poor.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

I take this opportunity to inform the public that I have removed from 134 Broadway (Nestle's block) to No. 141 Broadway, where I have secured more commodious quarters. A fine line of groceries and confections will be kept constantly on hand. Choice butter, eggs and poultry a specialty. Thanking my friends for favors already received, I hope to be able to merit your patronage in the future. This is to certify that I had a policy on my building which was damaged by fire on the 31st day of July, 1887, in the German Ins. Co., of Freeport, Ill., issued by Conrad Neirieter, agent. On the 2nd day of August, 1887, the loss was adjusted and paid cash, and for such promptness and dealing I voluntarily recommend the said company to all who may need insurance. And also would most heartily recommend Conrad Neirieter for taking interest promptly and seeing the loss settled.
